

ALIGNING CAMPUS INITIATIVES

UC MERCED 2020

TEAL LABS

ILTI - UCM

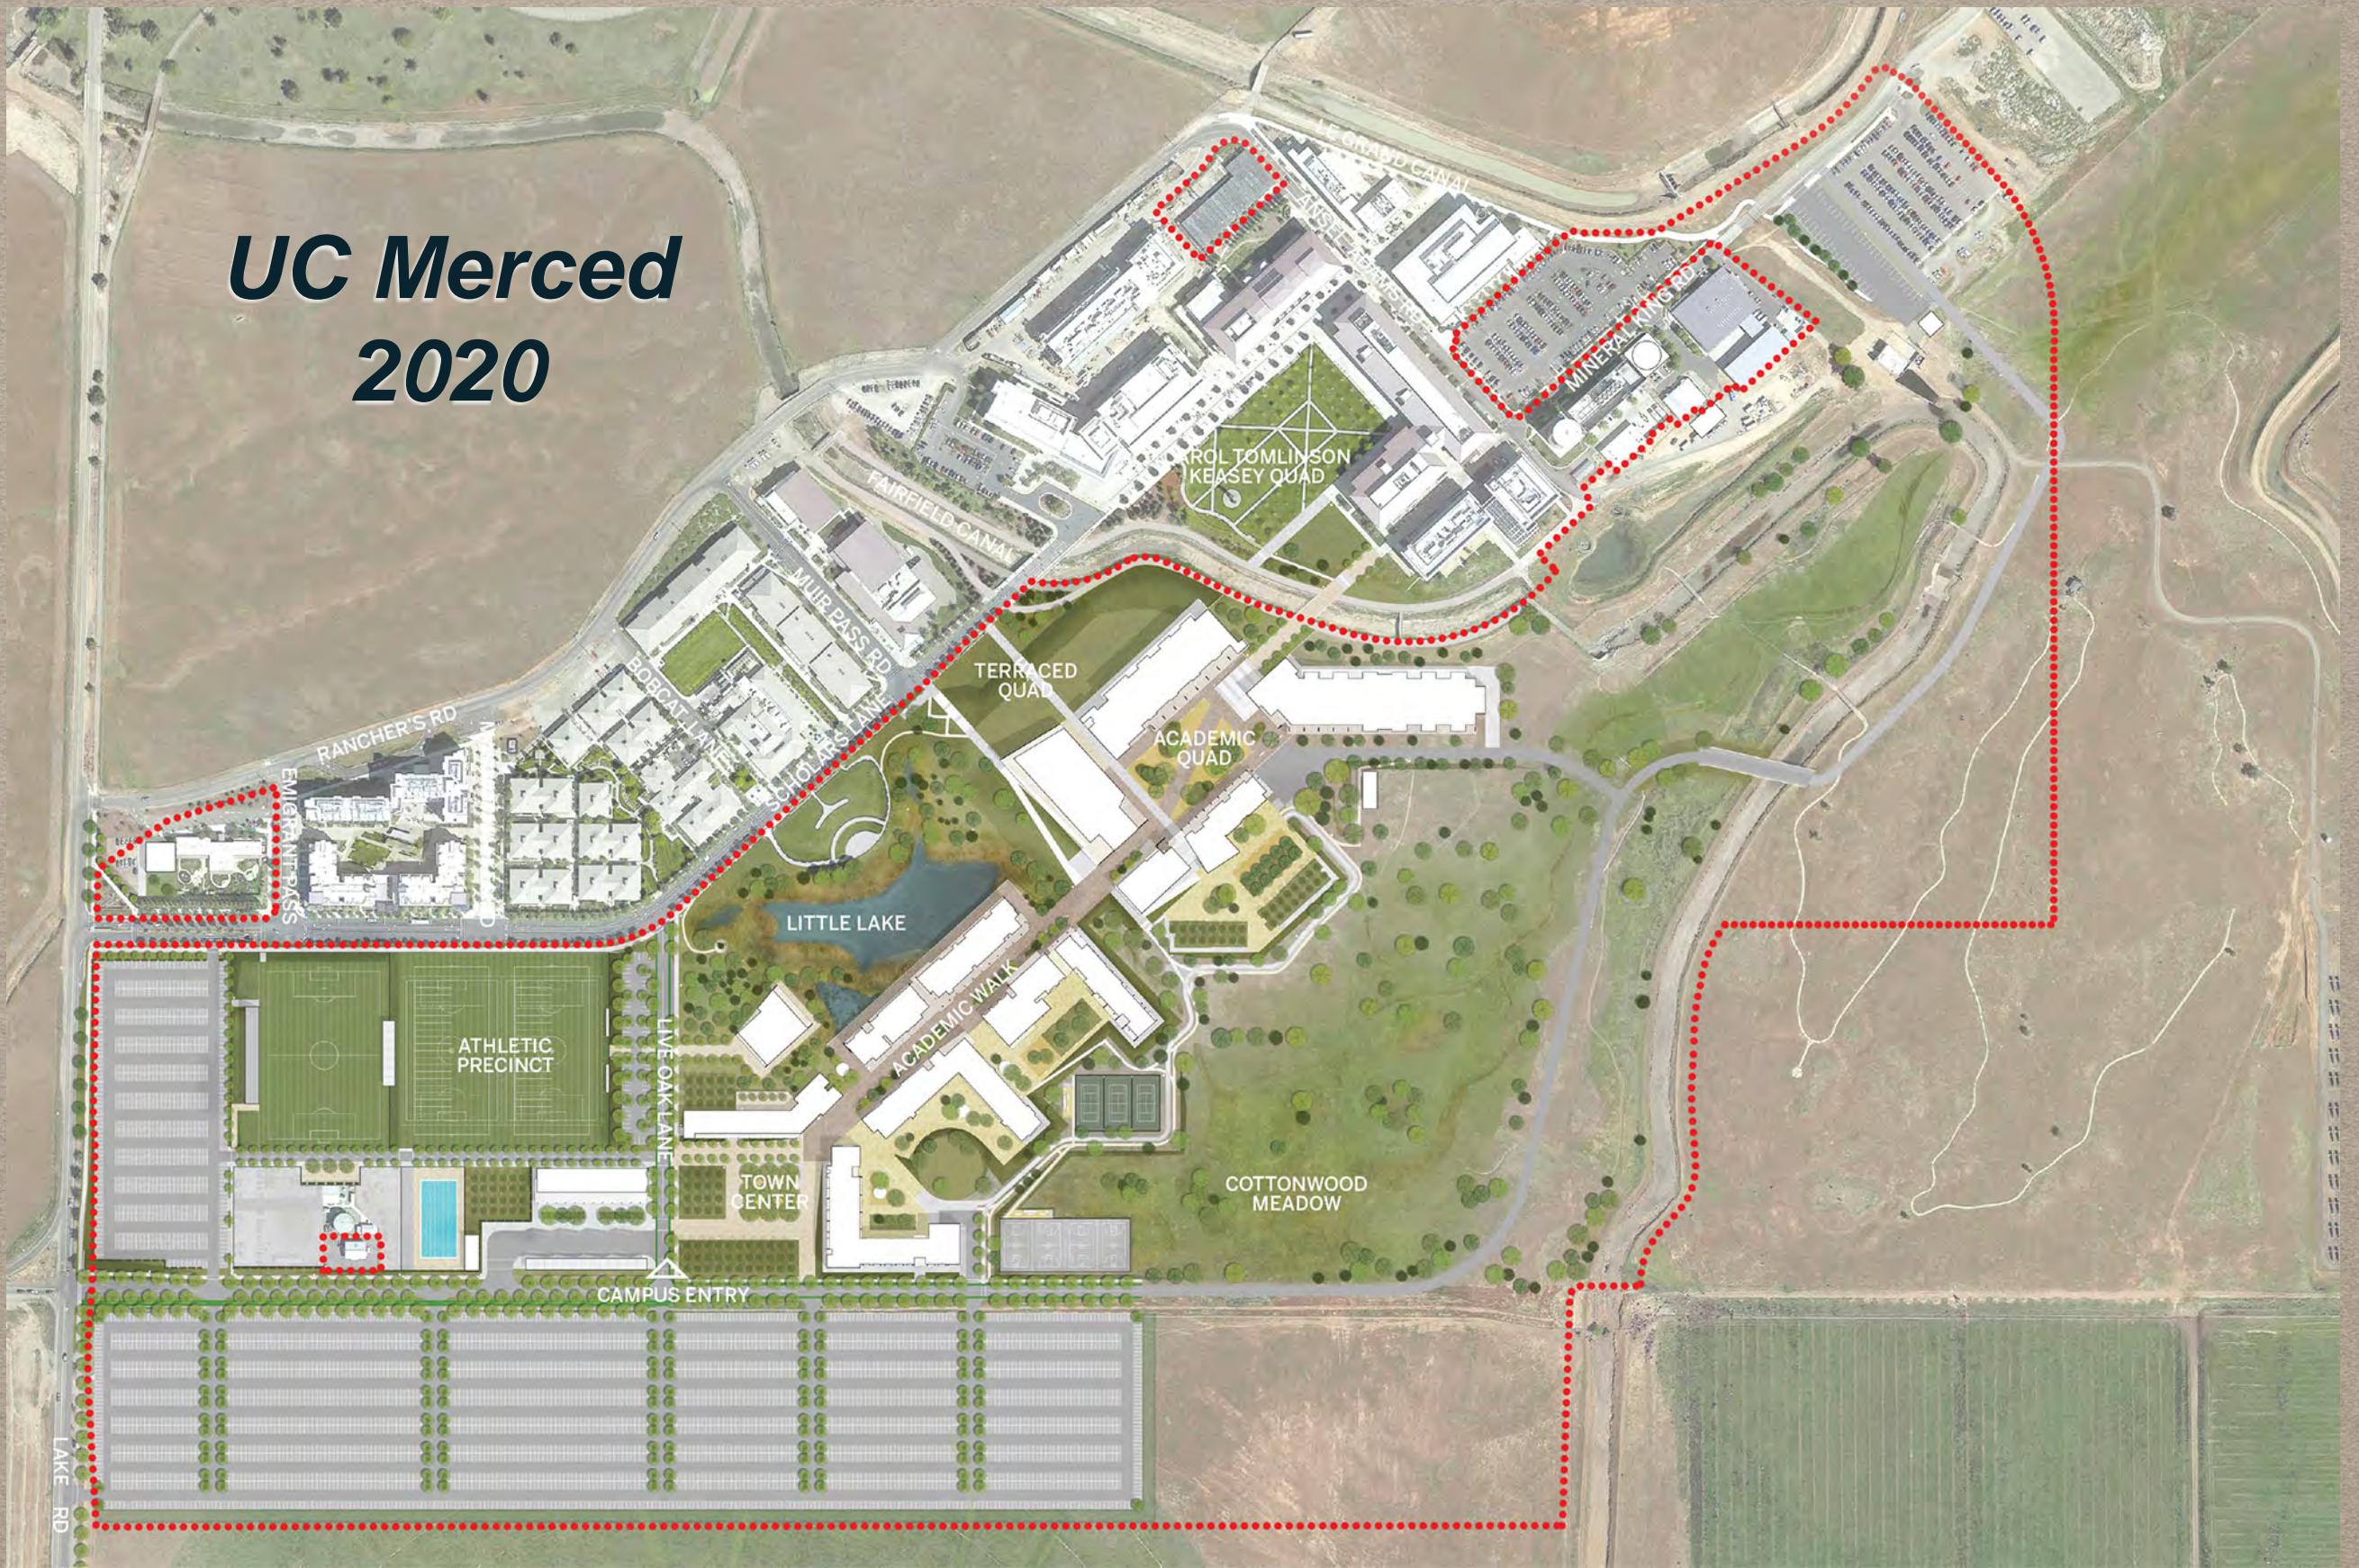

Joan Holmquist - Director, Academic & Emerging Technologies

Jeffrey Yoshimi – Associate Professor, Social Sciences, Humanities and Arts

James Zimmerman - Associate Vice Provost Teaching and Learning

UC Merced 2020

TECHNOLOGY ENABLED ACTIVE LEARNING LAB

CENTER FOR ENGAGED
TEACHING &
LEARNING
AT UC MERCED

UCMERCED

OFFICE OF
INFORMATION
TECHNOLOGY

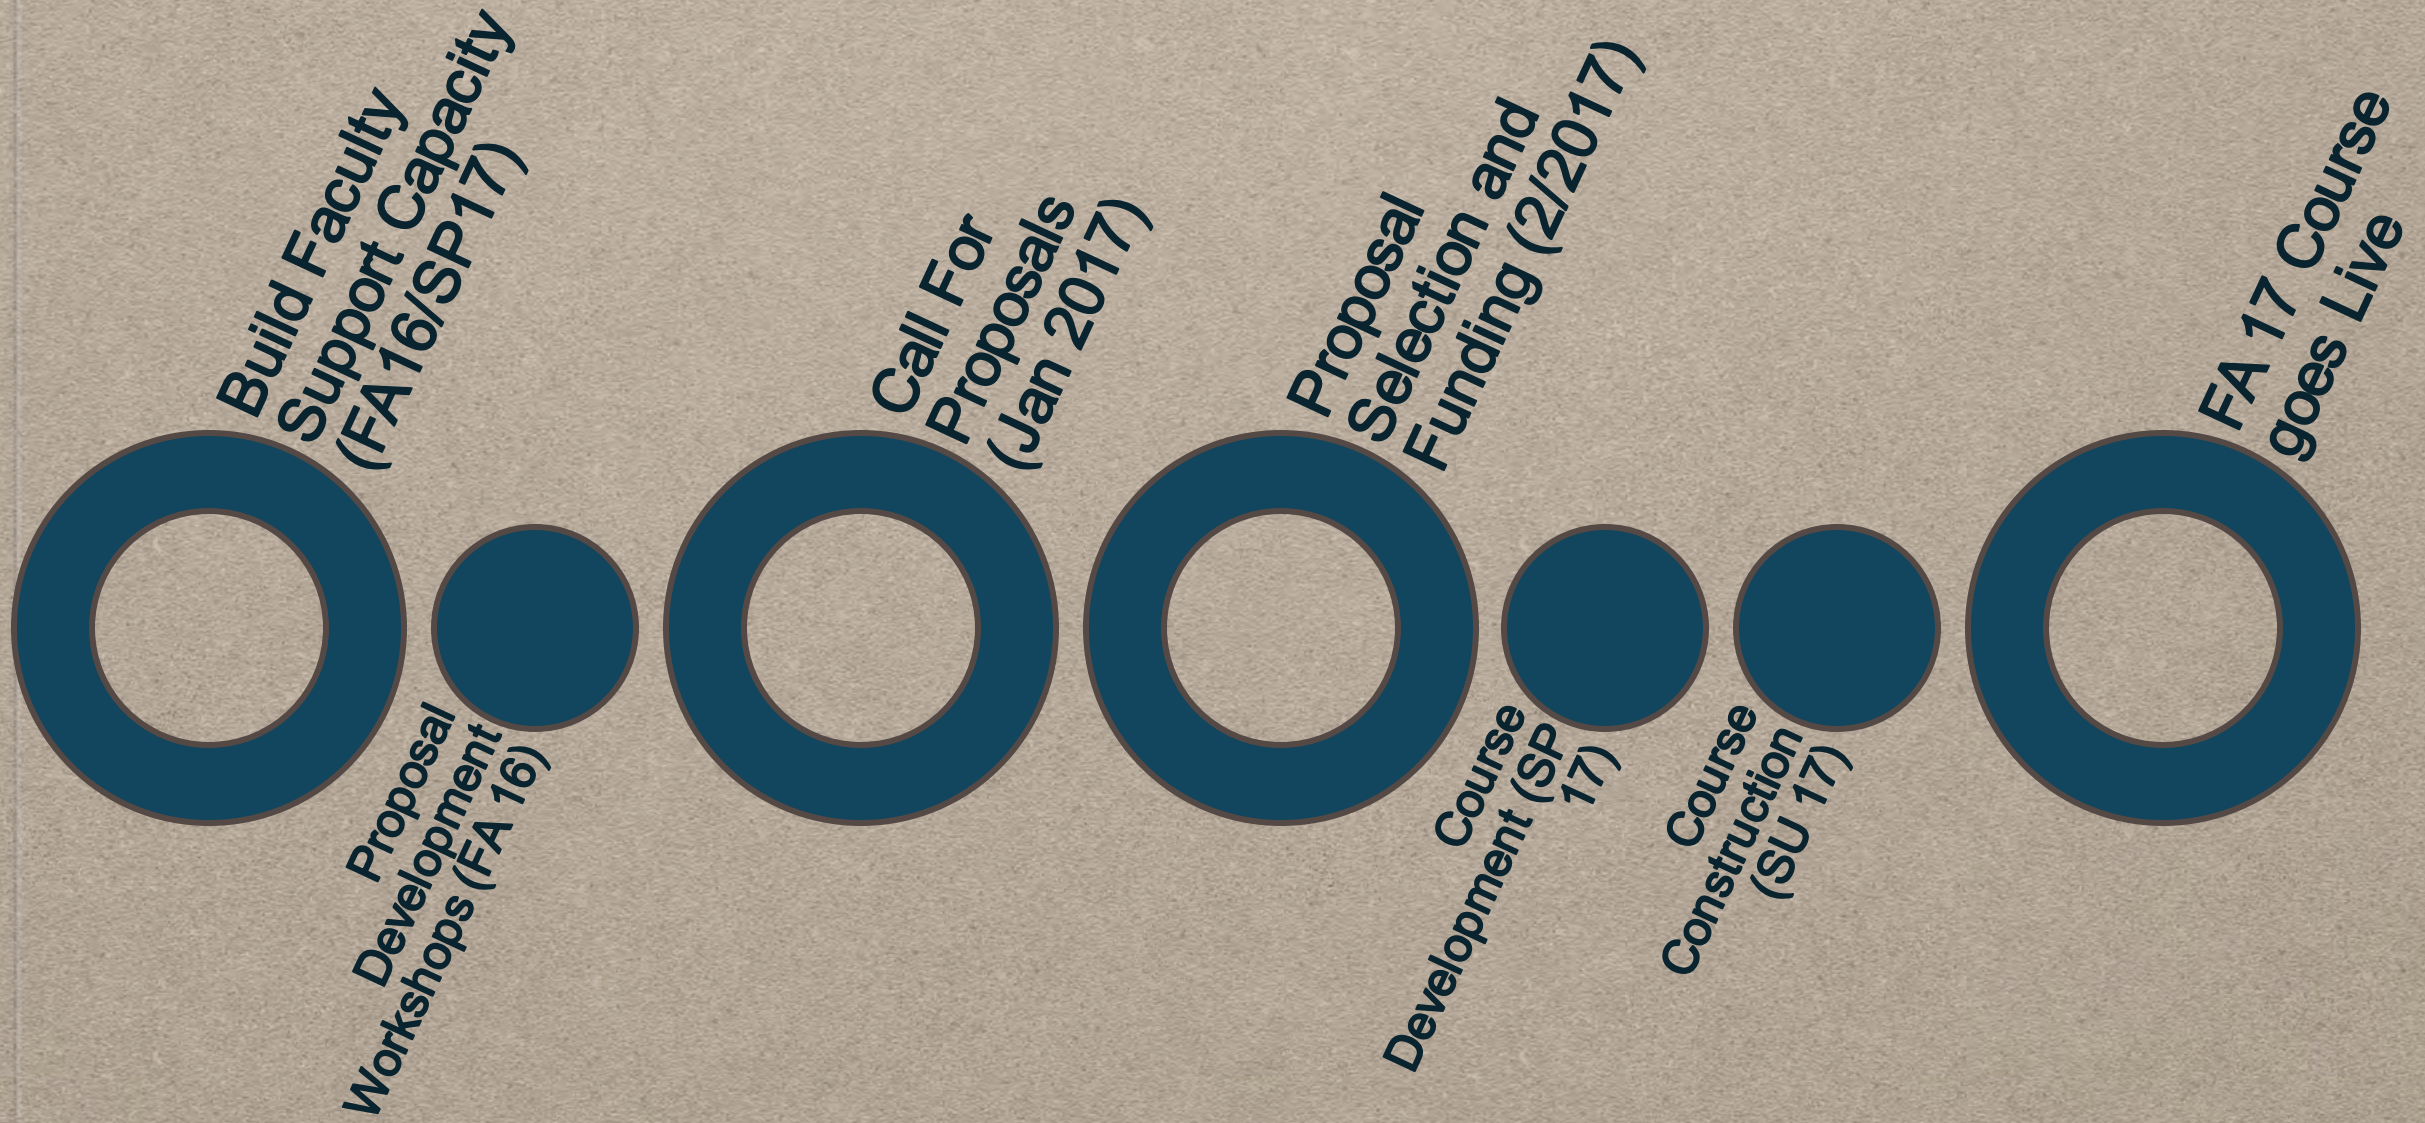

*One existing (COB2 Room 175) - 90 seat
Three in UCM 2020 - 90 seat / 45 seat / 45 seat
(complete Fall 2018)*

UCM-ILTI GOALS

- Responsibly utilize UCM-ILTI funds to support the development of at least 10 quality hybrid/on-line courses
- Build on existing capacity to sustainably support the development, launch, and maintenance of UCM-ILTI course offerings.
- Produce specific resources for student success in hybrid / on-line delivery methodologies.

UCM-ILTI TIMELINE

ANTICIPATED IMPACT ON STUDENT LEARNING

- Increase class attendance (typically > 90%)
- Improve student performance when instructors move to active, student-centered teaching methods
- Increase conceptual understanding when compared to lecture/laboratory classes
- Reduce failure rates, especially for women, minorities, and first-generation students

ANTICIPATED IMPACT ON STUDENT LEARNING

- Provide opportunities to strengthen student-faculty relationships
- Provide opportunities that strengthen student-to-student relationships, which benefits collaborative project outcomes
- Learning environments will be effective for teamwork and collaborative projects
- Encourage discussion by helping students feel active and engaged